

2007 State Convention and Meeting

Planning for the March 23-25 State Convention is well underway, thanks to the work of the Moore County League that is inviting us to meet at the Little River Golf Resort. The package at Little River is for two nights and all meals on Saturday and a buffet breakfast on Sunday. Our accommodations are two bedroom/two bath suites with a full kitchen and living area. Sharing rooms and suites will cut down on costs and give our members opportunities for sharing ideas and for getting to know others from across the state. Spouses can take advantage of the golf package or tour historic Pinehurst while we meet and join us for the Saturday evening banquet with a featured speaker.

We must confirm the number of suites reserved 30 days in advance, so please send in your registration for room reservations to LWV-NC by February 15.

We encourage League members who are not delegates to attend! The program will begin Friday afternoon with workshops designed to address needs identified by local leagues. Friday evening members of the Moore County League will accompany groups to several area restaurants, and we ask that you sign up on the registration form for a restaurant.

The schedule on Saturday and Sunday will include all the business essential for the convention—review, discussion, and adoption of a biennial program, legislative agenda, and budget; and election of officers. Issue sessions related to the proposed program will be offered. Presentations and/or panels on major topics, such as lobby reform and effective advocacy strategies, are also being planned. Round tables for members to share successful programs and activities have been popular in the past and will be a part of the Sunday morning schedule.
